INTERPRETER TRAINING CONSORTIUM

Following the establishment of the National Interpreter Training Consortium last February at the Congress on Deafness Rehabilitation, Gallaudet has been chosen as one of the six consortium members, including New York University, the University of Tennessee, the University of Arizona, St. Paul Technical-Vocational Institute and California State University at Northridge.

The purposes of the NTIC are to increase the number of qualified interpreters, to assist state vocational rehabilitation agencies in improving their use of interpreter resources and to develop new resources and to develop in each state at least one interpreter training facility. The project has just received a five year grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Gallaudet College, as a member institution, is responsible for developing interpreter training programs in Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and the District of Columbia.

At Gallaudet College, the consortium program is based in the Office of Sign Language Programs and is being coordinated by Lottie Riekehof.

AMONG OURSELVES

--Alan B. Crammatte has just returned from a semester as visiting professor of business administration at the University of California at Northridge. He was the first deaf person to hold such a position. Welcome back!

--Marilyn Galloway will be speaking on "Career Planning for the Deaf" at the Conference on Virginia Industry, Job Training and Employment in Richmond. Sponsored by the Virginia Council for the Deaf, it is the first statewide conference of its kind. Bill Varrieur, Ira Winakur and Clarence Williams have also been invited to attend.

--Frank Turk will be attending the Board Meeting of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Citizens, Program for the Disabled Deaf, in Chisholm, Minnesota, next week.

THREE SPEAKERS NIGHT

The Cultural Affairs Committee is planning an exciting and informative evening featuring three deaf personalities on January 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Auditorium. Sharing the lime-light for the evening will be:

Bernard Bragg-of the National Theatre of the Deaf;

Jimmy Jones-instructor of communications and science at TVI who will be speaking on the problems of the deaf in obtaining insurance; and

Leonard Warshawsky-editor and writer of the "Spotlight" in the FRAT magazine.

Tickets are $1, and all ticket holders are invited to a reception in Chapel Hall following the lectures. For additional information, contact Bev Girton in Alumni and Public Relations.

INTERNATIONAL AWARD ESTABLISHED

The first Powrie V. Doctor Medalion for International Service will be presented during the Seventh Congress of the World Federation of the Deaf at the Gallaudet College convocation program, August 4.

The purpose of the award is to recognize on an international basis "those deaf and hearing individuals who have shown an extraordinary sensitivity towards communication, social, emotional or employment problems of deaf people and who have made a significant contribution towards eliminating those problems for the benefit of deaf people of the world."

Nominations may be directed to Steve Mathis, who will be chairing the screening committee.

--All non-faculty employees and supervisors or non-faculty personnel are earnestly requested to return their questionnaires on training needs to Bonnie Muller in General Services. Your input is important!

HONORARY BOARD MEMBERS NAMED

The Board of Directors of Gallaudet College has established honorary memberships for persons who have been exceptionally active in promoting services for deaf persons.

The first two persons to accept honorary membership are well-known actress Nanette Fabray and Dr. Howard Rusk, director of the Institute of Rehabilitation Medicine and chairman of the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine at the New York University of Medicine.

IT IS NOT TOO LATE

If you missed registration Monday and Tuesday evenings for sign language classes, you will still have an opportunity to enroll for the spring semester.

Students can continue to register through January 17, in the Office of Sign Language Programs, College Hall, from the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ON THE GREEN is published for the faculty and staff of Gallaudet College each week by the Office of Alumni and Public Relations.

Copy deadline: Monday, noon.
